Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Phillippe came down from Kingston to spend a short time in Cartersville Wednesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Gale Ross motored to Atlanta Wednesday afternoon and attended the merchandise showings now in progress there.

Mr. Goodloe Yancey, Jr., was a prominent business visitor spending a part of Wednesday here on business.

Burglars broke into High School building, at Cassville, sometime Friday night, and carried away a small safe, according to Sheriff Frank C. Atwood.
The break-in was discovered Saturday afternoon, when G. W. Gil-strap, a plumber who was doing some work at the Cassville Baptist church, noticed that the front door of the school building was standing open.

Deputy Sheriffs A. L. Woody
and J. T. Wheeler were called Saturday afternoon to investigate the break-in, and found that the burglars had entered through a basement window, had broken a lock on a door leading into the corridor, and then had broken a lock on a door to the principal's office. Their exit was made through a front door, Atwood said.

The officers looked for clues, but no arrests as yet have been made.
The Tribune News was not informed as to the amount of money contained in the safe.

A news report carried in a re-police. He was assisted by a large cast of enlisted men, all of whom received the plaudits of the com-

at that post.

Alfred is a son of Carrie Hend-

Anderson To Address Education Group On Segregation Thursday

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

By M. L. F.

Had a most enjoyable trip Friday to Reinhardt College, along with members of the Euharlee Farmers Club, going over at the invitation of President J. L. Burgess, Jr., resident of that famed institution.

This was the second visit to Reinhardt for members of the Euharlee club, and they noted quite a number of notable improvements made in the college plant since they first went to Waleska in a body 1919.

After enjoying a walk through the main building which has been built in recent years, with public subscriptions, raised when the late Samuel Candler Dobbs threw down the challenge, saying he would create an endowment fund of considerable size, if the public would raise a like amount. That campaign was a success, the administration building is a tribute to the far-sightedness of Mr. Dobbs. He also left trust funds which yield up to ten thousand dollars annually to make up deficits which are as certain as the rising and setting of the sun.

Reinhardt operates for the benefit of the boys and girls. The tuition

To discuss the private school amendment to be voted on, Nov. 2, Rankakee Anderson, Superintendent Polk County Schools, will be guest speaker at a called meeting of the Cartersville Education Association, Thursday at 8 p. m., at the Douglas Street School auditorium, Miss Sue Wallace, president of the organization announces.

Members of the three local Parent-Teacher organizations are invited as special guests, but the meeting will be open to the public. Any interested citizen who would like to hear a direct explanation of the statewide question is urged to be present.

Mr. Anderson, a graduate of the University of Georgia, has devoted his entire career to education. After teaching one year at Berry College, he taught 10 years at Lanier High for boys, Macon, before becoming Polk County's superintendent in 1940. Always on the alert for better schools in this state, Mr. Anderson has won a place of leadership among the state's educators. He served as president of the Georgia Education Association in 1950-1951.

Mr. Anderson's current speaking engagements on the proposed amendment have included Waycross, Oct. 12; Cartersville, Oct. 14; Perry, Oct. 19, and Athens, Oct. 22.

Mr. John Parker, principal of Cartersville High School, will introduce the speaker.

Troy Upshaw Again Head of Norwega

At the annual meeting for election of officers for Norwega Production Credit Association in Cartersville Wednesday evening, Mr. Troy Upshaw, of Waycross, was re-elected president. Mr. Parker, of LaFayette, re-elected vice-president, and John T. Smith, of Cartersville, re-elected secretary and treasurer.

The Norwega Association represents farmers of Bartow and other Northwest Georgia counties. In addition to the two officers are: R. M. Stiles and T. A. Smith, of Bartow, and A. L. Crockett, of Smyrna, Cobb county, on the board of directors.

Mr. Russell Harris is in charge of Norwega's LaFayette office on a full-time basis, while Helen Herndon keeps the office open on a part-time basis. Mrs. Wilda U. Manning is secretary at the Cartersville office.

Mr. Baskin reported to the meeting that Norwega's loans to farmers now exceed more than a million dollars, with an increase of some four hundred thousand since the last annual meeting in 1953.

Norwega is a division of Farm Credit Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture. The Regional office is located in Columbia, S. C.

PART OF LARGE CROWD WHICH HEARD LINDER HERE
Gubernatorial Candidate To Ask Drought Aid From U. S.

Linder Outlines Segregation Plans, Free Milk For Schools

Pledging to keep public schools segregated and free milk for children in the first three grades, gubernatorial candidate Tom Linder opened the political season locally Saturday as a crowd of several thousands drawn by speeches and free fish.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

By M. L. F.

Tom Linder filled his engagement in Cartersville Saturday and made a good impression upon those who saw him in person, or heard his voice over the air waves.

Certainly, the people of Cartersville have something for which to thank Tom Linder, because he gave this community some fine advertising, telling the people listening in throughout the state and nation what a fine community Cartersville is, and how hospitable he had found the people of this section of Georgia.

There are some few left, it would seem, who were not convinced that Tom Linder would make the best governor. That is well and good, for any candidate who receives assurances that he has the unanimous endorsement of all the people soon learns that somebody has been fooling him.

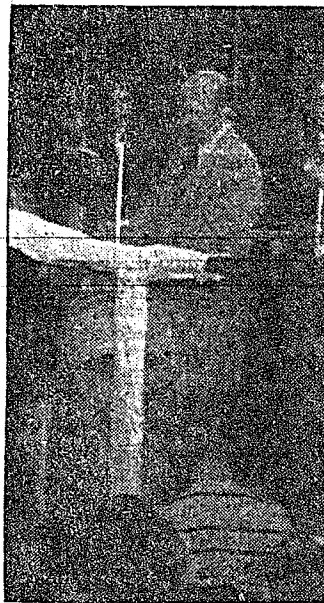

Tom Linder does not expect all the people to agree with him, but he and his friends are confident he will receive an overwhelming endorsement from the voters of Georgia when they go to the polls Wednesday, September 8th.

Having spent his life in the public service, and knowing personally probably more people than Linder told the crowd gathered on the Cartersville American Legion grounds that there would be no compulsory mixing of the races in state schools.

In his plan to handle the segregation problem, Linder said parents of students would be required to designate what schools they want their children to attend. They will have their choice of attending all-white, all-colored or mixed schools, Linder said, adding that teachers would also sign a contract requiring them to teach in all-white or all-negro schools.

REMOVING his coat at the urging of the shouting crowd, Linder said that he will begin a movement soon to secure federal emergency aid for drought-stricken farmers of this area.

He brought heavy applause throughout the address, especially when he outlined his segregation plans and when he mentioned free milk for children.

Linder predicted that it would cost the state about four or five million dollars to provide free milk to children of the first, second, and third grades. He said this plan would aid milk producers and would be an investment in health and economy.

The gubernatorial candidate, for many terms commissioner of agriculture for Georgia, cited the rapidly growing broiler industry of North Georgia and said that the industry brought in more income last year than the state's best cotton crop "in years when Georgia was a one-crop state."

Linder also predicted that there will be no runover in the Sept. 8 primary. "The only candidates who are saying there will be a runover are the ones who know they can't win Sept. 8," the commissioner said.

Judge William A. Ingram, of Cartersville, was master of ceremonies for the occasion. He praised the past record of Mr. Linder and read a letter from Lewis Tulin who is endorsing Linder for the state's highest post.

GENE TILLY, of Cartersville, and a supporter of the late Eugene Talmadge as far back as Tilly "could remember," also endorsed Mr. Linder. Ingram told the audience that when Tilly had "barely quit wearing dresses" the child would shout encouragement to Talmadge as he spoke. Tilly would say, "Mr. Talmadge, I'm not old enough to vote, but I wish I was."

A. M. Elder Sr., former superintendent of schools in Townes County and a teacher for the past 50 years, was introduced by Tilly, his grandson. Mr. Elder also heartily endorsed Mr. Linder.

The car came on to Chatsworth, and the occupants stopped at the DeSoto hotel. Vincent told Miss Jones that he would charge nothing for the trip except a place to sleep and his breakfast, and he did not register.

It appears from the evidence that Smith Treadwell, who was returning to Crandall with Miss Amelia Phillips, met his sister and Swiney, and when told of the incident at the culvert was very indignant. He took them in his car and carried them to Crandall, where another party of young people, who had heard of the accident to the car at the springs, had come to carry them home.
 Swiney and Miss Treadwell got in the car with this party and returned to Chatsworth with them. Treadwell followed soon afterward.

There was some slight conflict in the evidence as to what occurred at the hotel, but the conflict was not material, and in the main the evidence was about
 as follows:

When Treadwell arrived at the hotel he went into the lobby and looked on the register demanding to know what room Vincent was in, cursing loudly and declaring that he would kill Vincent, using a vile epithet, and that no man could offer his sister a drink of whisky and insult her. Some of the witnesses testified that Treadwell went upstairs looking into all the rooms. Two traveling men staying at the hotel that night testified that they were awakened by the loud talking. One witness swore that Swiney told Treadwell "if you don't kill him, I will." J. C. Neely took a pistol away from Swiney in the commotion and handed it to Ralph Harris, who later gave it to Treadwell. Several tried to calm Treadwell, stating that had happened to cause him to

CASH PRIZES LARGE IN ALL WOMAN'S WORK

Directors Have Provided Interesting
Features For This Department — Special Prizes Department Announced.

The Woman's Department of the Bartow County Fair this year promised to be one of the most interesting in the history of the association. The management asks all women who can attend in exhibits, so that their work will be an inspiration to all the women who visit the Fair.

The cash prizes have been doubled this year, and in most cases the association has offered three cash prizes,
first, second and third.

Last year there were many requests for articles exhibited in the Fair.
In course, articles exhibited in the Fair could not be removed from the building until the afternoon of the last day, but for the convenience of the exhibitors the women of the county, there will be conducted an exchange or sales department, through which exhibitors will sell articles on exhibit after the fair closes, and receive orders for duplicate articles. No charge will be made for this service, but only articles properly prepared for exhibits can be sold. If you wish to offer any article for sale,
bring it "For Sale" and give sale price
the same.

Articles must come up to standard as prescribed for them by the judges. No articles will be accepted and no prizes will be awarded to a poor or unworthy article, even though it be the best in its class.

The association has offered a prize this year for the most attractive novelty. So, the women who can make something unusual, can display same with "novelty" and take orders for dupli-

Rome, and will come to Cartersville in the near future to open a battery service station, selling the famous "Exide" batteries. His company will have formal notice of the opening date in the near future.

Drive For Funds Needed in Schools Begins This Week

The following ladies have been appointed by the Woman's Auxillary of the School Board, to act as chairmen during the drive for funds, which are to be used in equipping the home service department in the Cartersville schools:

- Mrs. Paul F. Akin, is treasurer of the fund, and the committee, by wards,
follow:
- First Ward: Mrs. Robert Rhea,
Chairman; Mrs. T. A. Jenkins, Mrs. E.
W. Robinson, Mrs. Floyd Bridges.

Dodd.
- Fourth Ward: Mrs. Jack Hill, chairman; Mrs. Sam Howell, Mrs. H. R.
Maxwell, Mrs. Robert Renfroe.

This department in the schools will be a great benefit to Cartersville girls, in teaching them home management, the proper selection of foods, and their value for children as well as adults; serving of meals with the right kinds of foods. The course will also teach garment-making and, artistic home decorations.

Necessary for this course is the individual equipment, consisting of tables, and other things used in the work.

This is the ladies asking your generous contributions, and they believe that citizens generally will come to their aid, once the cause for which the money is to be used is understood.

Mrs. Lee Womelsdorf is chairman of the committees, and called a meeting of the ladies at the City Hall for Thursday afternoon of this week.

Taylorville Now Enjoying Benefits Electric Current

The progressive community of Taylorville is now basking under the rays of electric current for its light by night, and listening to the hum of electrically driven motors by day.

This fact is made possible by the organization of a local company by the progressive business men of Taylorville, who contracted with the Georgia Railway and Power company for a substation.

The final installation work was completed this week, and the current was turned on. The gins have been equipped with motors, and practically all business houses and residences in the town have been wired, or contracts let for the wiring.

A STATEMENT FROM HON. WARREN A. DODD

To the Former Supporters of Mr. John Holder in Bartow County:

I think it nothing but fair that I should acquaint you with a conversation I had with Hon. Clifford Walker on the day he made his speech in Cartersville.

After he had delivered the speech he told me that he wanted me to say to his friends in this county that if we found just before the election that Mr. Holder had a better chance of carrying Bartow than he did, that he wanted us to withdraw his name and let the race be run between Mr. Holder and Mr. Hardwick, and hoped that all Walker men would support Mr. Holder. Certainly to candidate for office would have made this statement prior to the election, unless he absolutely

1,100 PUPILS ENROLLED IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Superintendent of Schools L. C. Evans announced this week that an even eleven hundred pupils had enrolled in the Cartersville schools, they being classed as follows:

Grammar grade, white	630
High school, white	112
Colored schools	358

Everything is now getting down to normal, and some good work is already being done.

There are now thirteen pupils enrolled in the agricultural department, and this number will be increased to above twenty at once. It should be understood this department offers an excellent opportunity to young men residing in the rural districts. They should see Superintendent, Evans at once for details or enrollment.

In the home science department there are 38 already enrolled; 35 pupils are taking music, either piano or violin, and in the expression class the enrollment is very good.

Plans are already being laid for a winning football team, and all in all the outlook for the biggest year in the history of the Cartersville schools is indeed very bright.

Promotion Day In Baptist Sunday School

Next Sunday is promotion day in the Baptist Sunday school, and a very interesting program is being arranged for that event by Superintendent W. C. Henson and Miss Ethel Griffin, who has charge of the primary department.

It is planned to have not less than 250 present when the Sunday school begins its session next Sunday, and to that end the members are hard at work this week.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

At the close of the morning service on Sunday there will be a meeting of

Connor Elected State Securities Board Organizer

Organization of the State Securities Commission was perfected Tuesday morning at a meeting in the city. S. G. McLendon, secretary of the commission, and Tom Connor, formerly state reporter of the Constitution, were appointed to the office of chief examiner after being nominated by H. M. Denny, commissioner of commerce and labor.

The commission was created at the last session of the state legislature, taking the place of the former law, and is designed to prevent the sale of fraudulent stocks. It is headed by Mr. McLendon, chairman, and Denny, attorney general, and Stanley.

It was decided by the commission to require all companies or parties applying for permission to do business in Georgia to give public notice three days in advance of application. Notice must be given in an issue of the newspaper and also in a newspaper in the city nearest where the plans to operate.

Mr. Connor, who has been chief examiner, is a well-known paper man of this city, and connected with the Constitution for a number of years. He will make a personal examination of the property of every concern applying for permission to sell in this state before passing on the application, which will come up before the commission at its regular meeting every first and third Wednesday of the month.

The above from the Constitution

C-ville Tribune-News 23 Sept 1920
Bartow Tribune

owner of an acre of farm land in low county would be benefited, and it would mean dollars in the pockets of every land-owner. The effects of such highways would not be confined to those farms actually bordering them—land anywhere in a section traversed by a modern highway would feel its effects, and feel it advantageously.

"The same is true with every other product of the farm. In the spring we have to haul out from the railroads our fertilizers, and in the fall get our products to market. This does not include the innumerable trips we must make, back and forth, every month in the year. Surely, no one profits any more from a good road than we people who live in the country.

"For these, as well as other reasons which will occur to our people, who have given the matter any thought, I believe we should get right in behind this whole project, and see if there is anything we can do to help put the idea over, not only with our own county officials, but with the state highway department, as well."

Others Agree With Him

Mr. Henderson is not alone by any means, for there are any number of citizens ready to get behind the project, and do anything within their power to put it over. The Tribune-News has been assured.

The Cedartown Standard published at Cedartown, says a great mistake would be made if Rockmart were not included on the proposed highway. Rockmart is already on an improved highway, leading to Rome, and it intersects the proposed highway only a few miles north of Rockmart. However this is a detail which can easily be worked out to the satisfaction of all concerned, its sponsors believe.

The Standard's comment follows:—
Must Include Rockmart

The Standard recently published a letter from Hon. Chas. Adamson which urged the expansion of the "Goodyear Highway"—we hope you like the name we have given it—now being built from Gadsden to Cedartown, to Clearwater Mill No. 3 at Cartersville. He was particular to state that this was not intended to interfere with the completion of the highway through Dallas to Atlanta.

The Cartersville Tribune-News takes very kindly to the suggestion, and last week published a map proposing the highway from Gadsden to Cedartown and thence by a bee-line to Cartersville, thus leaving Rockmart off to one side.

This would be a great mistake, and the people of Cedartown would certainly not wish to see it happen.

Clearwater Mill No. 2 is now being built at Rockmart, and it is important from every viewpoint that Rockmart be on such a Goodyear Highway, just as it is on the Birmingham-Atlanta to run through Cedartown and Dallas.

The distance saved by leaving Rockmart off the Goodyear Highway would be negligible, and the idea of leaving it to one side would not be popular in any part of the county. We have a good highway between Cedartown and Rockmart, which should some time be paved along with the
